

The annual consumption of Cotton Yarn is about 95,000 lbs. and we are now using of Indigo nearly 6000 lbs. The latter is an article in respect to which much judgment and experience is required. One of the executive committee has made himself perfectly acquainted with the value of this commodity, and he has probably saved in the purchase of it, only, the full amount of compensation allowed him.

The whole shews the extent of the operations of this committee; and they are also required to make daily examinations of the business transacted at the store. They have primary charge over all the money concerns of the institution; and, by the general closeness of their dealings, with money at command, all things are obtained at their very lowest prices, to the great benefit of the establishment. The organization of this committee has conferred very important advantages, in the whole business of the institution.
